

Anthro Club

Spring 2009

March is Linguistics month! We are pleased to have Dr. Stephanie Lindemann presenting for us from the Applied Linguistics department.

March Events

Happy Hour:

Tonight! March 12th at 7:30 at Twain's in Decatur (211 E Trinity Pl). Twain's is a great spot, with house-brewed beer and a wide variety of games to play. 21 & over after 9:00 pm.

Event:

Sunday, March 15th. Refugee Family Services will be hosting Taste the World, a food and "culture" festival benefiting refugees in Atlanta. Anthro Club will be volunteering from 10:00-2:00. If you would like to go join in or have any other questions, e-mail Ivey at itapp1@student.gsu.edu.

Special Guest Speaker:

Thursday, March 19th at 12:30 in the Anthro Kitchen (Sparks 345). A Peace Corps representative will discuss opportunities with the program, followed by Q&A. You never know—this could lead to a life-changing experience!

Become a Citizen Lobbyist!

SPARK is a grassroots advocacy organization dedicated to preserving reproductive justice in the South.

SPARK, in partnership with the Center for Women at Emory welcomes Angela Davis as a guest speaker for Legislate THIS! With the expansion of the prison industrial complex into our communities it is vital that we explore and address the impact it has on our bodies, within families, and in our lives.

The expansions of prisons and the increase surveillance and detention of women of color and queer people of color is a reproductive justice issue.

Field Day and End-of-Semester Party

May 2

We're taking your brilliant ideas for our big finish to Spring '09! To offer up event and location ideas, visit the discussion board on the Anthro Club Facebook page, or the sheet that will be placed on the white board. By the next meeting, we will have a sign-up sheet for teams. Following the field day, a classic pot-luck-back-yard-bonfire party will take place at Nick Leng's house in Oakhurst (tentatively).

Graduate Research Symposium

In April, we're hoping to put together an informal graduate research symposium to give MA students a chance to practice their oral presentations, and to educate their peers on what they've been so diligently working on! If you are interested in presenting, contact Ivey at itapp1, or on Facebook. You know the drill.

If you have any questions, comments, or vulgar jokes, please contact your President!
